"Nursing Care for Patients - Dilemma 1959"

The A.N.A. has informed State Nurses' Associations and State Boards of Nursing that this report produced by a special sub-committee on nursing problems and published by the Medical Society of the County of New York, has had wide distribution throughout the United States and Canada. The intent of the report is stated to be to impart "greater insight and understanding of the nursing problem among physicians and the public". Due to the inaccuracies and misapprehensions in the report, the ANA has circulated an "open letter" by Mrs. R. Louise McManan and a critique by Miss Agnes Gelinas which contain statements about the report which they hope nurses will find useful in reviewing some of the issues in nursing education and nursing care being widely discussed today. Also, these statements point out the kind of information which can be used to good effect in dealing with the more frequently heard criticisms of nursing and nursing education.
